IMPORTANT INFORMATION ABOUT THE ORDER

Effect of temporary ancillary furniture order

This order is a temporary order.

*If you do nothing after being served, this order will automatically become a final order 3 months after the date on which it was made. The final order will come into effect immediately. If you wish to dispute this temporary ancillary furniture order, you must notify the court as soon as possible.

*The court has directed that a hearing be held in relation to the of this order (or specified parts of this order).

This hearing will take place whether or not you wish to appear. If you wish to dispute any part of the order, you must notify the court as soon as possible.

If you do nothing, the court may make a final order in your absence (or the parts of the order in relation to which a hearing is not required will become final 3 months after the date on which this order was made, and the court may confirm the other parts of the order at the hearing).

*If another person who has an interest in the property and who has been given notice wishes to be heard, a hearing will be required even if you do not wish to be heard. In that case, you will be notified of the hearing date.

*Omit if it does not apply.

This order expires if the occupation order (or tenancy order) to which this order relates expires or is discharged.

*If this order is made while you and the applicant are living in the same dwellinghouse, this order will expire—

- (a) on its discharge by the court (although the order may still become final, or be confirmed by the court, as set out above); or
- (b) on the discharge of the occupation order (or tenancy order) to which this order relates.

* Omit if it does not apply.

Variation or discharge of order

You (or any other party) may apply to the court at any time—

- (a) to extend or reduce any period specified by the court as the period for which this order is in force; or
- (b) to vary the furniture, household appliances, and household effects to which this order relates; or
- (c) to vary or discharge any terms and conditions imposed by the court; or
- (d) to discharge this order.

Consequences of breach of order

You commit an offence if you contravene or fail to comply with any term and condition of this order (for example by preventing possession and use of all or any items to which the order relates). You have a defence to proceedings for this offence if you can prove that you had a reasonable excuse for breaching the order. The maximum penalty for this offence is 3 years' imprisonment. If a constable has good cause to suspect that you have breached this order, you may be arrested without warrant. Police bail is not available during the 24 hours immediately following an arrest. During that period, any bail application must be made to a Judge.
